Negative, hostile songsBy Book Worm 993While a few of the chants have catchy melodies, listening to children chanting, "I don't like him," "My socks don't match," and "I'm mad at you" gets old fast. I would prefer something much more positive sounding.1 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Good dealBy Francis WalshUsed book arrived quickly, in good shape Price was good. I'll come back for more used books. Three more words.5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Have Been Using This for Decades!By peggyI've been using Carolyn Graham's jazz chants for decades! I pick and choose which ones to use, depending on the grammar and rhythm I want to teach. Perfect for ESL students of course, and her teacher's edition outlines for you the grammar and structures to reinforce in later language lessons. I made some hands-on materials to go with them--we have a blast practicing these rhymes. I use select poems with professional adults, as well---they provide perfect ways to practice pronunciation, intonation, pausing, grammar. Her stuff endures!

Intended for children, this is a collection of chants, songs and poems that focus on basic structures of American English.

About the Author Carolyn Graham is the creator of Jazz Chants, which connect the rhythm of spoken American English to the beat of jazz. She developed the technique of jazz chanting during her twenty-five years of teaching ESL in the American Language Institute of New York University. Ms. Graham is the author of numerous Jazz Chants books, all published by Oxford University Press.
