Kaplan : Kaplan Newsweek Business School Admissions Adviser 2000 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Kaplan Newsweek Business School Admissions Adviser 2000:

6 of 22 people found the following review helpful. If wasn't broke, why did you fix it?By A CustomerFrankly, I am quite disappointed with the changes to an otherwise superior product. I noticed that the chapters dealing with women and minorities were omitted since the last edition. Given that corporate america has not yet realised its goal of diversity in its executive ranks, we should be mindful of the special considerations confronting such groups. Moreover, business education benefits when diversity goals are given thoughtful consideration.
