Texas sayings that this Texan never even knew!By Robert BradyThis was a really decent buy---interesting and entertaining---gave it to a female friend from Ohio---she got a real kick out of it and got edumacatedall at the same time!!6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Don't Squat with yer Spurs On . . .By Kit FrazierThat saying and many others your dad used to dish up are all listed in reference form in "More Texas Sayings..." You want to know how to tell someone to get lost? Look up "Unwelcome," and find, "As welcome as... an egg suckin' dog, an outhouse breeze, and a porcupine at a nudist colony." All right, so there were a few missing, like my dad's personal favorite, regarding why undesirable people still manage to get hitched- "There's a butt for every saddle." And there's a phrase to suit every person in "More Texas Sayings..."1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. More than you can shake a stick atBy M TwainI happened across this little book at a used book sale.I'm from New England and couldn't get over how similar a lot of the Texas sayings were to the old time sayings in my home state of Vermont... except of course for the ones pertaining to ranching.It was very enjoyable and I did read quite a few new ones.
